

Filming content at the clinic made simple

You don't need to be a videographer. Follow three steps — film it, upload it, and let the portal hand you the idea and the lines. This page is everything you need.

How to film

- › Hold the phone vertical (9:16) — fills the whole screen on Reels & TikTok.
- › Face a window or light, never with a bright window behind you.
- › Get close for sound — quiet room, no echo. Audio matters more than camera.
- › Wipe the lens, keep the phone steady (lean on something or use a tripod).
- › Do 2–3 takes and keep it short — 20–45 seconds is plenty.

Where to upload

Everything goes to one place — the shared Google Drive “Inbox” folder. The editing team picks it up from there. Don't email clips or use a personal drive.

Name it clearly: YourName_Topic_Date

e.g. Maria_KneePain_Jun08

Open Studio. Pick a format. Film.

Get your idea from the portal

- › Scan the code below to open Studio on your phone.
- › Swipe the cards sideways — each is a format that's working right now, with a real example video. Watch it.
- › Under it you get the idea + the script, broken down by who says what (Doctor, Patient, Assistant, Narrator).
- › Don't love the idea? Tap "Regenerate idea". Want a different video? Tap "Change video".
- › Film it the same way the example does — then upload to the Drive Inbox.

BEFORE YOU SEND — QUICK CHECK

- ☐ Vertical, well-lit, clear audio
- ☐ Followed the example's structure (hook → point → call to action)
- ☐ Said the lines for each role
- ☐ Named the file and dropped it in the Drive Inbox

➡ Open Studio

Point your camera at the code. Bookmark it — new ideas appear every week.
