

Every service. Every payout. One page.

The complete Repeat Cash schedule — every service Hawaii Wellness Clinic pays you to refer, and exactly what each one is worth. One service, one flat fee.

Credited automatically the moment your referral gets care.

BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE

Use your first and last name.

When your referral fills out the form, they enter your first and last name — that single field is what ties the sale to you. A first name on its own is not enough: we have trainers who share one, and an entry we can't match to a person is an entry we can't pay.

Spell it the same way every time, and it lands in your balance on its own.

How the numbers are set

Each fee is roughly 10% of the clinic's standard price for that service, rounded to a clean figure. For scale: HWC already takes up to 50% off for veterans — so a referral fee at 10% sits comfortably inside what the clinic absorbs every day. It's a fraction of that, by design.

Your fee is the same no matter who you refer. Members and veterans pay less; that discount comes out of the clinic's side, never out of yours.

Good to know

- Both names, every time. First and last on the referral form, spelled consistently.
- Credited on completion, not on booking. A no-show credits nothing.
- Consultations pay too. $50 on the first visit, then again when they start treatment.
- One fee per service, whatever the dose or package size.
- Repeat Cash is clinic credit, redeemable at HWC. Not cash, not transferable.
- Fees can change. Your portal balance is always the current figure.

What you earn

One name, one fee — the same tag we use in the clinic's system. Dose and package size don't change it.

What each one actually is

Enough to recognise the problem and make the introduction. You never have to explain the medicine — that's the clinic's job.

Regenerative & Biologics

"My knee's been shot for years." "It never healed right."

Injections that use the body's own repair signals — PRP from their blood, or exosome products — placed into a worn or injured joint. Usually people who want to avoid or delay surgery.

Peptide Therapy

"I don't recover like I used to." "My sleep is garbage."

Compounded peptide protocols aimed at recovery, sleep and general longevity goals. Popular with older members and anyone training heavy.

Pain & Joint

"I'm stiff for two days after leg day." "My shoulder keeps flaring."

Non-invasive, no needles: shockwave, laser or vibration applied to the sore area in short sessions. The easiest first referral — low cost and low commitment.

IV Therapy & NAD+

"I'm wrecked today." "I'm fighting something off."

A drip in the clinic — fluids, vitamins and minerals — or NAD+ for energy and clarity. Quick, cheap, and the easiest thing to say yes to.

Mental Health

"I'm just flat lately." "I haven't been right since deployment."

Clinician-supervised care for depression, anxiety, PTSD and pain that has not responded to the usual routes. Includes ketamine sessions, nerve blocks and Exomind.

Aesthetics & Hair

"I look tired even when I'm not." "My hair's going."

Botox, fillers, Sculptra and hair restoration. Straightforward cosmetic work — no medical history needed to make the introduction.

Weight Loss

"I train five days a week and nothing moves."

Prescription weight-loss medication with a metabolic workup and follow-up. For members whose training is already dialled in and still stuck.

Consultations & Hormone

"I don't even know where I'd start."

The catch-all. If a member is interested but you cannot place them, send them to a consultation — you get paid for it, and the clinic works out the rest.

PLEASE READ — WHAT TRAINERS CAN AND CANNOT SAY

Hawaii Wellness Clinic is a physician-supervised medical clinic. Your role is to introduce people to the clinic — not to diagnose, prescribe, recommend a specific treatment, or give medical advice. Whether a service suits someone is decided only by an HWC clinician after evaluation. Please don't promise an outcome, quote a success rate, or tell a member which therapy they need.

Many therapies offered at HWC — including ketamine for mental health, peptide therapy, and compounded weight-loss medications — are prescribed off-label or are not FDA-approved for those uses. That is lawful medical practice, but it is not the same as an approved product and should never be described as one.

PLACEHOLDER — DO NOT DISTRIBUTE UNTIL REPLACED

The clinic's regenerative / stem cell regulatory statement goes here. It must be written from the documentation the clinic actually holds and cleared by the medical director and counsel first.
